

... Ann Landers

(Continued from Page 9) comes home whenever he feels like it, which is anywhere from midnight to 3:00 A.M. He doesn't chase with women, he spends his time at his mother's house. She still treats him like a nine-year-old.

I've begged him to stay home like a husband should but it's no use. Please tell me what to do. I'm ready to take the gas pipe.—SHERRY.

Dear Sherry: Get off your knees and stop acting like you're honored to have this jerk around.

Insist that he go home to his mother until he's ready to come back and behave like an adult. And remind him to drop the support checks in the mail. If you doormat wives would get off the floor your husbands would have more respect for you.

Dear Ann Landers: This is a touchy one. We need the advice of someone who is not in the immediate family circle.

A close relative has been studying with a professional and has become a sculptress. She presented our son and daughter-in-law with one of her favorite pieces as a wedding gift. The young couple know a good bit about art and they don't want to use it in their home. My husband feels they should not be pressured into it.

I say the woman's feelings are at stake and it would be a crushing insult if they didn't use the piece of art. May we hear from you? — FAMILY FIREWORKS.

Dear Fireworks: It will not kill the couple to display the sculpture for a few weeks. It would be especially generous of them to have the piece displayed when the sculptress comes to call.

Most people rotate art.

PROGRESS DISPLAY... Three years of progress will be recorded in a display to be shown at the 33rd Annual Convention of Western Hospitals by the Auxiliary of the South Bay Hospital. Staffing the display will be Mrs. Jack Goetz (pictured) and Mrs. Ryburn M. Ross. Hostesses for "Project Pavilion" at convention will be Mrs. E. B. Thompson, president, and Mrs. Paul Yates, vice-president, of the South Bay Hospital auxiliary. (Herald Photo)

They could easily rotate this particular piece to the attic after a few weeks.

Are you going steady? Making marriage plans? If so, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "Before You Marry—Is It Love or Sex?" enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope. Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope. (C) 1963, Field Enterprises, Inc.
